

COMMERCE BUILD + GROWTH SCOPE

Build one connected commerce engine.

Shopify first. Amazon alongside it. Target when the proof is there. App later.

● ONE BUILD PARTNER

● ONE DATA PICTURE

● ONE GROWTH RHYTHM

LAST MILE STUDIOS × GRIME™

CONFIDENTIAL · PROPOSAL

THE PRINCIPLE

Not three disconnected agencies.

GRIME should not have one team building Shopify, another building Amazon, and a third lining up marketing afterward.

01

One brand world

Visual system, product hierarchy, claims, and promotions stay consistent across every channel.

02

One commercial view

Shopify and Amazon measured together — traffic, conversion, CAC, repeat purchase, product performance.

03

One growth rhythm

Campaigns, launches, and offers move together instead of being rebuilt channel by channel.

Who owns what.

Last Mile owns

- Commerce architecture and build
- Shopify and Amazon implementation
- Measurement, conversion, and ongoing optimisation
- Paid-media deployment across agreed platforms
- Channel coordination so the experience stays connected

GRIME supplies

- Approved brand identity, photography, video, renders
- UGC and campaign creative
- Product claims and legal approvals
- Product data and required brand assets

A GRIME storefront — not a template left behind.

- Custom Shopify Online Store 2.0 build aligned to the GRIME system
- Parent-first buying journey — cool, graphic, made for boys
- Modular homepage and campaign sections for weekly drops
- Custom PDPs, collections, routines / bundles, GRIME 101 / FAQ
- Subscriptions and reviews connected (Recharge + reviews app)
- Email / SMS connected; SEO, privacy, mobile performance, launch QA

Outcome

The storefront GRIME lives in

Built to feel alive and launch-ready — architecture that can grow into Plus, Target, and app later without a rebuild.

Amazon, launched as GRIME — not a separate brand.

- Account / Brand Registry readiness and channel architecture
- Brand Store structure and build from approved assets
- Product listings, variation structure, titles, bullets, search setup
- A+ / Brand Story modules for hero ASINs
- Marketplace merchandising, measurement, and launch setup

Outcome

Two live storefronts

One brand and one commercial foundation — Shopify and Amazon ready to take demand together.

Manage + optimise after launch.

The build is only the start. The value comes from learning what converts and changing the system around it.

Shopify

Site + conversion

- Maintenance and technical support
- CRO and merchandising changes
- Landing pages, offers, launches
- Analytics and reporting

Amazon

Catalogue + market

- Listing health and catalogue ops
- Search and conversion optimisation
- Promotions and content updates
- Marketplace reporting

Add channels when the engine has proof.

Target

When online proof is there

- Target / Target Plus onboarding
- Catalogue, PDP, and merchandising setup
- Brand content in the Target environment
- Tracking, reporting, retail-media readiness

App

When behaviour earns it

- Account, subscription, and reorder
- Loyalty and community
- Education, routines, and retention
- Gus-led guidance where appropriate

WHY LAST MILE

One partner. Fewer handoffs. Faster decisions.

Shopify and Amazon, built together

Storefront, product story, promotions, data, and paid activity designed as one system — not stitched after the fact.

The same team stays after launch

Management keeps the system flexible. Paid spend ramps as the evidence supports it.

Built by people who've shipped

Ecommerce from the brand side, not just the agency side — practical, fast, commercially minded.

One relationship for the founder

Not separate developers, Amazon specialists, media, and tech teams to coordinate every week.

Flexible enough to move with GRIME — without a large-agency

SELECTED WORK

shipped commerce
before.
